The Law of the Road.

From the General Statutes of Massachusetts.

CHAPTER 93.

OF THE LAW OF THE ROAD.

Section 1. When persons meet each other on a bridge or road, traveling with carriages, wagons, carts, sleds or other vehicles, such persons shall seasonably drive his carriage or other vehicle to the right of the middle of the traveled part of such bridge or road, so that their respective carriages or other vehicles may pass each other without interference.

Section 2. The driver of a carriage or other vehicle, passing a carriage or other vehicle traveling in the same direction, shall drive to the left of the middle of the traveled part of a bridge or road, and if the bridge or road is of sufficient width for the two vehicles to pass, the driver of the leading one shall not willfully obstruct the same.

Section 4. Whoever offends against the provisions of the preceding sections shall, for each offense, forfeit a sum not exceeding twenty dollars, and be further liable to any party for all damages sustained by reason of such offense; but every complaint therefor shall be made within three months after the commission of such offense, and every action for damages shall commence within twelve months after the cause for action accrues.

THE BICYCLE IS A CARRIAGE.

The law deals with words according to their ordinary and generally accepted meaning, and the word "carriage" (implying that which carries) is so defined, both by the lexicographers and by the courts in America and England, as to include bicycles, and the bicycle is held by the common law decisions of both countries to be a carriage.

This was so decided in this country by the government authorities at Washington, under advice of the law department, in the case of Chandler [1887]; also by New Hampshire Supreme Court in Ladd vs. Allen [1881], and so regarded by the common councils of Boston, Brooklyn and other cities, under advice of eminent legal counsel in ordinances relating to use of streets. On March 31, 1894, Justice Wheeler decided that a bicycle rider had as much right of way on public streets of Chicago as any vehicle and fined the driver of a truck $50 and costs for running into a bicyclist.

The rider of a bicycle is the driver of a carriage, and as such entitled to the same rights and privileges that belong to the drivers of other vehicles which travel the public highway.

The statute law of the State of New York specifically declares that in the laws regulating the use of carriages on the public highways, the term "carriage" shall be construed to include every vehicle used for the transportation of persons and goods.

Webster defines a "carriage" to be a vehicle on wheels, a "velocipede" as a carriage for one person, and a "bicycle" as a velocipede having two wheels.

So it appears by the agreement of common usage, common law and legislative enactment, that a bicycle is a carriage, and as the law has never yet undertaken either to restrain us from constructing our private vehicles in a manner best suited to our individual tastes and uses, or to give to any form of private carriage rights or privileges superior to any other form, it may be safely concluded that the general laws regulating travel upon the public highways are applicable to wheelmen and to the carriages they ride and propel.

The Rules of the Road.

SPRINGFIELD CITY ORDINANCE,

REGULATING THE USE OF BICYCLES ON THE PUBLIC STREETS.

Section 1. No person shall ride a bicycle on any street within a radius of one mile of the City Hall at a rate of speed greater than eight miles an hour.

Section 2. No person shall ride a bicycle on any street in the city unless such bicycle has a bicycle bell attached to it in such a manner that the bell can be easily and instantly rung. All persons riding bicycles shall do so in such a manner as not to endanger or unreasonably incommode any person lawfully on such street, and shall give seasonable warning by sounding the bell to any person in danger of collision with the bicycle.

Section 3. Whoever violates any of the provisions of this ordinance shall be subject to a penalty of not less than two or more than twenty dollars.

ARTICLE III. ROAD RULES.

1. In riding, strict attention must be given to the rights of other persons occupying the public highways, and caution invariably observed when approaching horses upon the road, either standing or driven.

2. A driver's raised hand is understood as a cautionary signal, and, if repeated, as a request to dismount.

3. In meeting any one, pass to the right.

4. In passing any one, ride to the left. Side-walks should not be used under any circumstances.

5. No member shall disregard these signals from passing carriages.

6 The courtesies of the road should be observed at all times, and especial care exercised about surprising foot passengers or frightening horses, and fast or reckless riding.

While we doubtless owe much to him "who knows his rights, and knowing dares maintain," those who are much upon the road, either on horse or a-wheel, recognize the necessity of something better than the right of might or the might of right. He who always insists upon his rights may enjoy life in a narrow, selfish way, at the expense of much comfort to others. It used to be said that to meet a wheelman was to find a gentleman, and it ought to be so now ; so beyond all law and rule, better than the right of way, is the exercise of that spirit that should animate all wheelmen, of the courtesy of the road. We all know what it means, though, alas, we sometimes forget it.

Looking at it from a mere question of policy, what do we gain by forcing a loaded team to turn out, just because the law allows us that side of the road? Simply a brief exultation at our triumph, and the lasting enmity of the driver, who, taking our conduct as a fair sample of wheelmen in general, never fails to crowd them to the wall when opportunity permits, and we all know to our sorrow how uncomfortable the average road hog can make life for us. Do we ever think that we ourselves have unintentionally put a few bristles on that same hog? How do we feel, when climbing a long, tough hill where a narrow strip at the left gives fair wheeling, and suddenly a shout or the clang of the bell warns us that some stickler for his absolute, unassailable rights, owns that side and is coming down on it, forcing us out into the sand and rocks, with the certainty of hard work and a possible dismount? Would we do the same I hope not.

I have seen the driver of a carriage purposely turn to the left into the mud to permit a bicycle the use of the only rideable portion of the road. Do you think he lost any of his self-respect by so doing? Would not the wheelman so accommodated reciprocate when the chance presented? We all of us too often overlook these little courtesies of the road, yet their general observance will do more to make wheeling popular and pleasant than all the laws in the statute book or all the rules of our careful devising.

One day three safety riders met a man on an ordinary, on rather a poor road, and, as so frequently happens, a narrow path on the single rider's left, only was available. Should three people with right on their side give way to one, who was not legally entitled to any consideration? The question was quietly answered by the leader, who pulled off to the left saying, "give him the best there is, he needs it." Dozens of such incidents might be sighted, and for every courtesy extended we shall surely reap an hundred fold.

There are too many boors and hoodlums now who make life a burden and bring discredit upon wheeling, who frighten pedestrians, and make horsemen very, very weary, therefore it behooves us at every opportunity to make amends for their conduct, and to undo the mischief they have wrought.

It sometimes happens that accidents befall, who of us would pass a stranded wheelman without an offer of assistance? While not abating one jot of our legal rights on the road, it is still possible to show an obliging thought for others' comfort, to bring about mutual good feeling, making smooth the rough places we all must pass, by a careful and persistent observance of the courtesy of the road.

SOME GOOD ROADS.

ST. JAMES AVENUE DRY BRIDGE.

One of the most popular short rides, especially for wheelmen at the Highlands, is the Dry Bridge over the Boston and Albany railroad, on St. James avenue. It is about two and one-half miles from Court Square, and any evening from five to twenty-five riders can be found on the bridge or on the road leading to it. The popular time to strike the bridge is about half past seven, at which time the riders gather to see the fast express pull up the steep grade. Ride out there some evening and see how popular the place is. In returning, ride down St. James avenue to Ingersoll's Grove, and around through Bowdoin street to Bay and through Bay to State. You will find a first-class road all the way.

HOLY SMOKE SPRING.

This is a pleasant short ride, and probably the most popular with down-town riders. It is about three miles from Court Square, going up Main to Plainfield street, over the North End Bridge, turning to the right and going up the River Road toward Holyoke. The riding is first-class all the way. Twenty-five wheels can be seen almost any evening standing along the fence, while riders are going and coming all the time from both directions, for this is also a popular ride from Chicopee.

FOREST PARK.

The most popular Sunday ride is to Forest Park. All day long the road is lined with wheels, and they literally swarm in the Park. Coasting and scorching has been forbidden in the Park, and riders will agree with us that it is a necessary restriction. The roads are full of sharp curves, and are so narrow in places that it is difficult for two teams to pass, and if a rider meets a team on one of these sharp curves, unless he has his wheel under perfect control, he is liable either to collide with the team or have to turn out so suddenly as to be thrown off, or run into the trees at the side of the road, or go down a steep embankment, none of which is pleasant or safe. The best way to reach the Park is down Main to Locust street, turn to the right on Locust to Fort Pleasant avenue, up this avenue--which is an easy grade--and turn to the left on Sumner avenue, following this avenue, which is a perfect level, to the Park entrance, or, to make it simpler, follow the car tracks all the way. One ride over the road will be followed by many more, as the road for the whole distance is first-class, and the same can be said of the Park. Though that place is full of hills and dales, they are all rideable.

MT. TOM.

A point of interest made easily accessible by the wheel, is Mt. Tom, and the way to get there is by the Holyoke road to the iron watering tank, about six miles from Springfield; here take the left fork of the road, up the hill, under the railroad and along Northampton street through Ireland Parish and Baptist Village, the upper part of Holyoke. At the old Craft's tavern turn to the left and climb Craft's hill. At the top the road bends to the right and is direct, mostly ascending, but generally good wheeling.

At the highest point of the way, leave your wheels at the farm house (the only one on the road), and take the path on the right up the mountain. Once on the summit the view amply repays one for the trip, and an hour or two can be passed with pleasure. Try it. Coming back it is almost a continual coast to Main street in Holyoke, if you prefer to come that way. For a short outing this little tour is one of the most enjoyable to be found in this vicinity.

SOUTHWICK PONDS via WESTFIELD.

The most direct route to the ponds is through Feeding Hills, a distance of about 13 miles from the corner of Main and Bridge streets, but the road for much of the way is sandy and poor. A much more pleasant and easier trip is through Westfield, a distance of 17 miles. Crossing the North End bridge, follow the street railway tracks to the top of Tibbs' hill, there take the right fork. There are no very steep grades going, and the road is generally good riding. The way is so direct that no special directions are necessary. It crosses the B. & A. railroad on a bridge at Tatham, and goes under the railroad twice. About 3 miles from Westfield, turn to the left and cross Little river on an iron bridge. The last two miles take the side path on the right. At Westfield, ride to Main street, turn to the left, and then to the right after passing the "Green." Turn to the right at the second street, and, crossing covered bridge, climb a rather tough hill, and follow the direct road to Southwick. Good riding all the way. Distance from Westfield 5 miles. At Southwick Center, turn to the left, and then take the first road to the right, direct to the ponds, distance 2 miles and mostly ridable, being generally level, though sandy in spots.

MT. HOLYOKE.

To the bicyclist who does not object to climbing a few hills or pulling through considerable sand; who is willing to work that he may win, a day's trot to Mt. Holyoke is one of the most enjoyable in the long list of wheeling delights. The best months for visiting the mountain are June and October. Select, if possible, a day just after a rain, when the roads will be at their best, start early in the morning, ride leisurely, easily arriving at the summit before the sun gets too hot, and after long, lazy hours of comfort and rest, wheel home as the twilight shadows fall, just weary enough to sleep the sleep of the just, and with memory so full of nature's delightful views that they will remain vivid pictures of pleasure till you find time to go again. Follow the well-known Holyoke road through the city, over the bridge to South Hadley Falls, turn to the left at the second corner and keep the straight road to South Hadley, with fair wheeling and no grades of consequence. At Mt. Holyoke seminary there is a long hill to be climbed, and in dry weather the side path at the left hand is preferable. Now we go down hill and turn to the left again for a few rods, and then bend to the right, taking path on right, for the road is poor. A mile of level but sandy road, turn at the left and at the bottom of a long hill a bridge crosses a picturesque stream, and the delightful shade is a temptation to tarry for a few minutes. Up grade again, the road swings to the right and the hill becomes less steep but more sandy, everybody but scorchers walk a little way here, and at the top of the ascent, at the left hand side, is a spring of good water, though in excessively dry weather it sometimes fails. Half a mile further on we turn to the left, down a steep hill and then up again, with miserable wheeling, and suddenly the road turns to the right and we pass through an immense boulder, cut open for our express benefit. At the left, a rude sign "Titans Pleasure Park" excites a mild curiosity which is pleasantly gratified by an exploration of the enclosure, for the view of the river from the overhanging rocks is superb. It is but a little farther to the beginning of Mountain Avenue, the right fork of the road, and just after a rain it is fair wheeling and not nearly so hard to climb as it appears. It is about a mile from here to the stables, and the grade grows rapidly greater as we near the stables. Now leave the wheels and take a car to the summit: or, if an athlete, walk up the winding way. If you are tired, and you probably are, you can rest and feast the eyes on the loveliest scene in Massachusetts, while the pure mountain air blows through your whiskers with an exhilaration not to be found elsewhere. On the return trip, one is so exalted by the delightful visions of the day that the difficulties of the journey are forgotten until the hardest part is passed, and no one who has once made the tour can refrain from trying it again.

SPRINGFIELD TO HARTFORD.

There are two ways to make this trip—on the east or west side of the river. Let us take

THE EAST SIDE.

Topham's or Pecowsic hill is the first difficulty, and with one exception is the only hard grade found on the trip. Through old Longmeadow over a fine hard road, up the hill past the pumping station of the Thompsonville water works, and along a gradual ascent to Enfield street, where sidewalks and highways are equally good, and the wheel almost "goes itself." Now the road bends to the right, we dip into a deep hollow, up on the other side, turn to the left, and after 1 1-2 miles of fair going, take the second turn to the right into Warehouse Point. From here to East Hartford the road is almost straight, parallel to the river, and generally poor riding, but a convenient side path, mostly on the right hand, makes everything lovely. At East Windsor Hill an iron bridge crosses the Scanatic, and passing this, we tackle the toughest climb of the journey. At East Windsor a tempting chain pump can be worked with pleasure and profit, and before we forget how good that water was we are in East Hartford, where we turn to the right at Bridge street, and crossing the old toll bridge are at last in Connecticut's capitol—a ride of about 28 miles.

ON THE WEST SIDE.

Let us go to Hartford this morning on the west side of the Connecticut river. Across the South End bridge, down to the River road on the side path till it ends, then turn to the right to Agawam Center, then to the left; side path on right and then on left to the distillery. Straight road to Windsor Locks, with side path on left from two miles this side of the Locks. A pleasant detour is to turn into Crooked Lane about 7 miles from Springfield and go through Suffield, over splendid roads, adding about a mile and a half to the distance, but avoiding a long and tedious pull up a sandy hill this side of Enfield Bridge. From Windsor Locks the road is fair, with no grade of consequence, and with little side path except through Windsor and South Windsor, where the highway is good enough for ordinary mortals. The last 3 miles into Hartford the grade is slightly ascending, just sufficient to give one a good send-off on the way home. My personal preference is to go to Hartford on the east, and return on the west side of the river. "You pays your money and you takes your choice.

TO NEWGATE PRISON.

One of the pleasantest places accessible to wheelmen is Newgate Prison, in the town of East Granby, Conn., and is reached by the following route: Across the South End Bridge, down the river road, side path on the right. Turn to the right where path ends, to Agawam Center, turn to left to distillery, then direct road south; at top of a long hill, about three-quarters of a mile from the State line, take right fork of road, through Crooked Lane to Suffield Center. At Soldiers' Monument turn to right, direct road to West Suffield, fair road and level. At the Turret House, turn to the left and continue till you reach a large, prominent sign, "To Newgate" here turn to the right and the road is direct to destination. Mostly good riding, with but one bad hill, but the walking is good enough for an amateur. The distance is 18 1-2 miles from Springfield. The grounds were closed on Sundays last year, and probably will be this year.

SPRINGFIELD TO MONSON.

A pleasant and interesting ride is from Springfield to Monson by way of Palmer. Though the road is not an ideal one for wheeling it is rideable, and the scenic attractions of the trip fully compensate for the difficulties of the way. The most direct course is out the Boston road to North Wilbraham, passing between Spectacle and Nine Mile ponds. The first 7 miles the road is good, then 2 3-4 miles of sand and one-fourth mile excellent going. Passing the railroad station at North Wilbraham, the road bends to the left and goes under the B & A tracks, then turns sharp to the right and is direct to Palmer. Half a mile from North Wilbraham a watering tank furnishes a most welcome supply, cool, clear and refreshing. Don't miss a drink here. From here to Palmer the road is fair but hilly. Through Palmer the road runs parallel to the B & A, past the Fair grounds and then turns to the right over the railroad. There are no hills, but the wheeling is not particularly good. It is 4 miles from Palmer to Monson. The road is direct. The total distance from Court Square is 19 miles. At Monson several hours can be pleasantly spent at Flynt Park, where there is a large collection of birds and animals. Do not fail to climb to the top of the rustic observation tower on Mt Ella. The view is the culminating point of the whole trip. The return may be varied by taking the left turn just this side of North Wilbraham to Wilbraham, turning to the right near the academy, coming in through Sixteen Acres. The distance is a mile longer than the direct road, but the riding is better.

You Are Right, Sir !

OUR Men's Hand Welt, Fine Calf Shoes, are made of white oak sole leather soles, the very best of Westcott's calfskin uppers, and stitched with the finest silk of the strongest quality. They have no tacks, nails or bits of thread in the inner soles to stick through the flesh of one's feet; neither are they stiff and hard to break in, but on the contrary they are all broke to the feet to start with. They are made to fit, to wear, to give you comfort in walking. We have them in Button, Lace and Congress, plain toe, cap toe and the Waukenphast last.

Our name is stamped on the soles of every pair, and the price

☀ $3.00 ! ☀

We have sold nearly six thousand pairs of these shoes, and every purchaser is ready to purchase the same again.

Right here I want to call your attention to our advertisers. They all have something that we want, and when you want anything in their line give them a call. They help to make it possible to give you this book free, and I bespeak for them a share of your patronage.

I have endeavored to make this book as nearly correct as possible, but no doubt some errors have crept into it. If you will kindly notify me of any changes of address or wheels, I will see that they are correct next year; for this book has come to stay.

Respectfully yours,

THE PALMER TIRE

Holds World's Records for '93!

At all distances from 100 yards to 27 miles and from 51 to 426 miles.

DO YOU KNOW WHAT RECORDS MEAN?

This: That for a given number of kicks on your pedals of a given force you travel farther, faster and easier than on a tire that "don't care for Records." In other words, you economize on strength and energy, and travel your six, eight, ten or twelve miles an hour with less effort and more comfort. Sound logic, eh?

Record for Ease and Rapidity of Repair.

We got a GOLD MEDAL for that at the Newcastle Exhibition in England.

Why Not Ride a Record Breaker?

Send your name and address and we will send you pamphlet and circular on repairs.

A BONANZA FOR Jobbers, Dealers, and Agents.

Chain Lubricant.

NOX ALL of 'em out as a cycle chain lubricant.

NOX ALL dirt, rust, and grit out of a chain.

NOX ALL is the stuff for fast and easy running qualities.

NOX ALL prevents the chain from rusting or sticking.

NOX ALL reduces the friction to a minimum.

NOX ALL has been thoroughly tried and pronounced by many prominent riders as the best.

NOX ALL is put up in handy collapsible tubes, 1 dozen in a box. One tube will lubricate a chain a whole year.

NOX ALL is the stuff your jobbers and dealers want; large and quick returns. Don't delay in asking for samples, circular and prices.
